Winter Pathways to Success

New HOURS at the Harnett Library: In response to the recent library survey, the Harnett Library is now open during the lunch hour, Mondays - Fridays. Also note that the Harnett Library now closes at 7pm, Mondays - Thursdays.

A.D.A.M. Interactive Anatomy is a new digital database of over 20,000 anatomical images and structures with easy point and click retrieval. It is more user friendly for nursing students and general researchers than Anatomy TV, which it has replaced. It features clinical illustrations and animations, as well as 3D, dissectible, and cadaver views of the human body. A multimedia health encyclopedia is also included.

The wealth of clinical information in this multimedia database will enable students to readily understand complex anatomical structures, organs, and the body systems.

Repetition & Persistence are Key.

Learning Express Library in NC LIVE has added and/or updated several new practice tests including: GMAT (new integrated reasoning section); more NCLEX-RN tests; more Border Patrol exams; and new AP® Flash Reviews in Biology and US History. Adobe Illustrator CS6 (Basic & Advanced) and Adobe Photoshop CS6 (Basic & Advanced) have also been added.

Remember to Use Your Library's Resources

Remember that four Study Rooms and the Collaboratory Room are available and maybe be reserved at the Lee Campus. Please sign in at the circulation desk.

When there is a class in the LEE library lab, remember that netbooks may be checked out for in-house use. Print jobs can be sent to the library printers from netbooks.

Remember to Use Faculty Library Services

The “Library Services Guide for CCCC” guide highlights the many faculty services offered by the CCCC Libraries. The goal is to make the students' and the instructors' library experiences and access to information as easy as possible so that they can better complete their assignments. Being aware of what the CCCC libraries have to offer is doubly important for our distance education instructors and students.

The guide also facilitates the Libraries' goal to seek continual improvement and to meet the needs of the college community by maintaining open lines of communication and/or collaboration with all our users. Access the guide on the Library Web site under “About the Libraries” and click the “Faculty Library Services” link. It is also located on the Intranet.

For more information, please refer to the December 17, 2012 “Professional Development Day” presentation by Director of the Library, Tara Guthrie, located on the Welcome page of the guide under “Presentations to the Faculty” in the left hand column.

Clickers are available for interactive learning and comprehension assessment at all the CCCC libraries (2 sets at Lee, 1 set at Chatham, and 1 set at Harnett). Tutorials and webinars on the use/ benefits of clickers are on the Turning Technologies web site. Go to the training link under the Support option and select the “Legacy Turning-Point Training” option.
