Alpha Levesque, Technical Services Technician, has taken a position in the East Carolina University library. ECU is her alma mater and she is very happy that she won't have to drive as far for football games.
Alpha contributed a lot to the library and will be missed.

Library Cards

In the past, the library issued cards to students and community patrons. The student ID card is now also the library card that students will use to check out books and perform certain functions on the online catalog. Receiving a student ID card does not automatically make it the library card. If the student had a card in the past, the number on the new ID card must be entered into the library system. If the student did not have a card in the past, then the student must be registered as a new patron. Please come by the library with your card to get this information entered. As before, having the card will be required to check out materials.
Community patrons will continue to be issued regular library cards.

NCLive

A new password for remote access to NCLive went into effect December 20, 2001.
Please ask for the new password at the circulation desk of the library.

Library Instruction

Where is the library catalog?
What is the Internet?
What is the World Wide Web?
What is a browser?
What resources are available for students?

The goal of the library staff is to help each library user become knowledgeable, comfortable, and independent in accessing information through contemporary library technology and basic resources. To help achieve this goal, a variety of instructional classes are available for students, faculty, and staff. The instructional services librarian will help determine the best class for the type and level of instruction needed.
Individual instruction is available. Please contact Janice Pope at 718-7245 or jpope@gw.ccarolina.cc.nc.us.

AV News

Renee Watson, the media librarian, now has a real office in the library. Her e-mail address and phone number are the same. Please contact her to reserve AV equipment. To ensure availability of needed equipment, please turn in requests as soon as you possibly can.

Over the holidays, eight new data projectors were installed in classrooms on all three campuses. This will be a big help to instructors.

Winter Olympics

The Winter Olympics begin February 8, 2002. Check out the official website at www.saltlake2002.com.

Resources for English Papers

English 111 students are required to write a persuasive or argumentative essay in which they present a reasoned, logical point of view on a current, controversial issue. Several series of books in the library will help the students look at their topic and create an argument for their position on the topic. One example of a series is Opposing Viewpoints which has books on many subjects including abortion, the death penalty, global warming, extremist groups, domestic violence, working women, and addiction. As the series title states, different viewpoints on each of these subjects are covered in the book. A quote from the back of each book "Those who do not know their opponent's arguments do not completely understand their own" sums up why this series of books is important for students as they construct their persuasive essays.
