

Green for green CENTRAL Ideas!

$200 Cash Prize!

CCCC is seeking innovative and creative ideas to launch our sustainable campus initiative. While CCCC is doing a great job of creating sustainability courses and programs we would like to create more of a sustainability culture on our campus. What does that mean exactly?

We would like to hear from students, staff, faculty and community members to explore energy and resource saving schemes on campus. How can we save more paper? How can we use less electricity? How can we reduce miles driven? How can we recycle more? How can students teach each other and the community about conservation?

Send your ideas to Laura Lauffer (llauffer@ccc.edu). Entries due April 16, 2012

Be sure to include any potential cost the project might require and examples from other schools if applicable.

The winning entrant will be awarded on Earth Day 2012 and will receive a $200 check on April 28th celebrating CCCC's 50th Anniversary on the CCCC Pittsboro campus.

Awards will be given based on:

- 🌱 Ease of implementation- can we start the practice easily?
- 🌱 Cost benefit-Does this idea save money for the college?
- 🌱 Visibility- Does the idea showcase sustainability efforts to the campus and community?
