Message from the President

Central Carolina Community College has a long history of excellence in advancing education. For forty-five years people have come to CCCC with goals and dreams for a better life. They leave with certificates, diplomas, and degrees in their hands, but it is the knowledge and skills they develop here that will help them achieve their dreams.

This year we have launched new program, added state-of-the-art facilities, and renovated existing facilities in all three counties, all to meet the needs of our students and of area employers who depend on us to provide a well-trained and competitive labor force. In 2007, we achieved a perfect rating on the North Carolina Community College System's Critical Success Factors report. Our students and staff achieved a lot this year as well. I invite you to read about our progress and accomplishments during our 2006-2007 year.

We sincerely appreciate the generosity of the many groups and individuals who support the college and the CCCC Foundation. Listed in this report are those who contributed during our fiscal year from July 1, 2006 through June 30, 2007. On behalf of the students, faculty, and staff of Central Carolina Community College, thank you.

Sincerely,

Message from the Chairman

Members of the CCCC community,

As I think about what I want to share with you in this Annual Report, the thing I'm most proud of is the leadership we have at the College. Matt Garrett has risen to the challenges of the past three years, leading this college to places beyond my greatest expectations. I am also proud of this board of trustees and the role we play in shared governance. The board and the administrators at the College work together, and that hard work has paid off. I think you'll agree as you read about the accomplishments we've made and the recognitions we've received. It's been a wonderful year.

Message Foundation Board President

Past, Present, and Future supporters of the CCCC Foundation,

Each year the Foundation awards thousands of dollars in scholarships so deserving students can attend Central Carolina Community College. Those students graduate and become our nurses, our police officers, our paralegals, or countless other occupations that in turn give back to our community in ways we cannot begin to measure, and many of them go on to four-year colleges. The CCCC Foundation also supports faculty and staff development to constantly improve the quality of education those students receive. The Foundation provides opportunities to introduce middle and high school students to the variety of career choices they might pursue right here in Lee, Chatham, and Harnett counties. And, when state and local government appropriations are not enough, the Foundation enhances and upgrades equipment to ensure our students are on the cutting edge of technology.

As the 2007-2008 Foundation Board President, I am proud that our endowment has recently exceeded two million dollars, but I hope that we can raise a whole lot more money in the coming year so we can continue to expand local opportunities for higher education. As you read this year's report, I invite you to learn more about the College, the Foundation, and the many wonderful contributors who make our work possible. I hope that it inspires you to add your support to this important effort.

2007-2008 Board President, CCCC Foundation

Institutional Mission & Vision

Vision

To be the best community college in North Carolina by meeting the educational needs of our students and working to improve the quality of life.

Mission Statement

Central Carolina Community College is committed to understanding and meeting the educational needs of the area's citizens, businesses, industries, and service sectors, utilizing multiple instructional delivery methods. The College provides life-long educational opportunities consistent with our students' interests and abilities, prepares graduates capable of acquiring and applying knowledge and succeeding in the regional and global community, and serves as a positive economic, social, and cultural catalyst in our diverse communities. The College is committed to teaching and learning excellence.

Top honors for CCCC

Central Carolina Community College received a perfect score in the North Carolina Community College System's "2007 Critical Success Factors Report." The college met or exceeded all of the performance measures established by the NCCCS. Only six other community colleges, out of 58 in the state, achieved this distinction.

The 12 performance measures are standards of excellence that show how well the colleges are carrying out their mission of meeting the educational needs of their students, communities, and area businesses. CCCC met and, in almost all cases, exceeded state standards of performance.

In measuring the progress of basic skills students, CCCC earned the highest score in the state. Other measures included how well our graduates performed at four-year institutions in the UNC system, the percentage of students who passed state licensure/certification examinations on the first try, and business satisfaction with their CCCC-trained employees, to name a few.

In 2007, the college also achieved a "Superior" rating for the third year in a row. The NC General Assembly awards additional funding to colleges meeting these high performance standards.

2006-2007 Faculty and Staff Awards

The North Carolina Association of Educational Office Professionals, a professional organization of over 2,800 members, named Gloria Cheatham their Educational Office Professional of the Year. Gloria has served the college since 1987 as administrative assistant to the president. The statewide membership also elected CCCC employment specialist Linda Spivey to be vice president for the 2007-2008 year. Linda will be the first CCCC employee to serve on the NCAEOP board.

Two members of the CCCC family were among the top honorees in the North Carolina Community College System's annual awards. Joyce Thomas, Cosmetology Department chair, was one of ten finalists for the 2006 Excellence in Teaching award. Linda Stone, dean of Library Services who retired in 2007, was a finalist for 2006 Staff Person of the Year.

Accreditation

Central Carolina Community College is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award associate degrees, diplomas, and certificates. Contact the Commission on Colleges at 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30333-4097 or call 404-679-4500 for questions about the accreditation of Central Carolina Community College. Note: The Commission on Colleges should be contacted only if there is evidence that appears to support an institution's significant non-compliance with a requirement or standard.

The College was accredited by the North Carolina State Board of Education in 1970, by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in 1972, and reaffirmed in 1976, 1987, and 1997.

CCCC is a member of the American Association of Community Colleges. Its trustees are members of the Association of Community College Trustees.

Growth and Innovation

The 2006-2007 fiscal year brought new programs, new facilities, and new ideas.

CCCC joined forces with Lee County Public Health (LCPH) to create the Central Carolina Dental Center at the W. B.

Wicker business campus in Sanford. At this state-of-the-art facility, CCCC will offer an Associate degree in dental hygiene and a diploma in dental assisting.

At the same time, LCPH will provide oral health care services to low-income patients. By collaborating, the two entities share equipment and personnel, CCCC students gain experience in a service-learning environment, and thousands of underserved adults, children, and geriatric patients receive much-needed oral health services.

The College underwent construction and renovation projects in all three counties this year. Preparations continued in Chatham County for a new sustainable programs building at the Pittsboro campus and a classroom and lab building in Siler City. County commissioners committed to environmentally-progressive building practices throughout the construction. In Harnett County, the College at the Lee County Emergency Services Training Center and continued long-range planning for the recently-acquired Kelly Drive land across from the existing campus. This year the College also began renovation projects at the Civic Center and several other received $647,620 in state grant funds to match local commitments for the new Western Harnett Industrial Park classroom and shop building. CCCC began site preparation for a classroom building and additional fire training facilities

Lee campus buildings and completed the Veterinary Medical Technology building renovation. The completed project, now one of the finest VMT training facilities in the country, was featured in North Carolina Veterinarian magazine.

Lee Early College completed its first year with seventy-three high school freshman joining the student population at CCCC. Taking a combination of high school and college courses, these students will graduate in five years with both a high school diploma and an Associate degree. Depending on what majors the students select, they may either continue their studies at four-year institutions or join the workforce. CCCC's Distance Education department experienced unprecedented growth in 2006-2007 with an FTE (Full Time Equivalent) enrollment increase of 15.2%. This continues a steady FTE growth trend over the past five years. Growth in overall registrations for distance education courses has dramatically increased over a five-year period, from 1,745 in Spring 2003 to 2,861 in Spring 2007. To support increasing number of student enrolled in distance classes, the department began offering help center support in the evenings in person and via phone. The department also expanded faculty support this year by adding a Faculty Resource Room in Lett Hall. Equipped with computers, software, printers, and other teaching aids, this beautiful facility offers both full-time and adjunct faculty a quiet place to work.

CCCC partnered with North Carolina State University to offer NC TEACH (North Carolina Teachers of Excellence for All Children), a rigorous, alternative teacher preparation program established by the state legislature in 2000. The program will advance lateral entry teachers (those entering teaching from other professions) to fully licensed professional teachers who are "highly qualified" as defined by the federal No Child Left Behind educational accountability act.

Legacy

Legacy Society

The Central Carolina Community College Foundation is fortunate to have a group of generous donors who have set aside gifts that will, over time, provide substantial benefits to our College, our students, and our community. Oftentimes these types of long-term commitments to higher education go unrecognized during the donor's lifetime. We are in the process of establishing the CCCC Legacy Society to provide a way to acknowledge such generosity in our printed materials and to thank our donors during special events. As always, we will continue to respect the privacy of any donor who wishes to remain anonymous.

You can leave a legacy of education

Legacy Gift Options

BEQUESTS

In your will or revocable trust, you specify a gift (a dollar amount, a particular asset, or all or a portion of your residuary estate) to be given to the Foundation effective upon your death.

CHARITABLE REMAINDER TRUSTS

You create an irrevocable trust during your lifetime, or upon your death, and transfer assets to the trust. You may designate one or more income beneficiaries (including yourself) to receive a fixed dollar amount or a fixed percentage of the trust assets each year. Trust installments may be paid over a certain number of years or for the lifetimes of the income beneficiaries.

Remaining trust assets then pass to the CCCC Foundation.

RETIREMENT PLANS

You may designate the CCCC Foundation as a beneficiary of all or a portion of your IRA or other qualified retirement plan.

Benefits to Donors*

- You retain control over the property, funds, or investments during your lifetime.
- Your gift will qualify for an estate tax deduction.

- Your assets can continue to provide income for you or your family members.
- You may claim an income tax deduction for the year in which you create the trust.
- The trust is tax-exempt, so all proceeds from the sale of assets contributed to the trust may be invested without reduction for capital gains taxes.

- You control your retirement plan until your death, and you may revoke the beneficiary designation at any time.
- Your gift will qualify for an estate tax deduction.

Legacy Gift Options

CHARITABLE LEAD TRUST

Much like a Charitable Remainder Trust (see page 10), but instead of payments being made to you or another beneficiary over the term of the trust, payments are made to the Foundation. Upon your death or the expiration of the term, remaining trust assets pass to your family members or to other named beneficiaries rather than to the CCCC Foundation.

LIFE INSURANCE

You may give an insurance policy that is no longer needed to the CCCC Foundation by naming the Foundation as the owner and beneficiary of the policy.

Benefits to Donors*

- Assets may be transferred to your family members or other beneficiaries during your lifetime or upon your death at a reduced gift or estate tax cost.
- The gift or inheritance of a family member may be deferred for a period of time while benefiting the CCCC Foundation.
- During the charitable term, investment earnings of the trust may be fully or partially sheltered from income taxes by an income tax charitable deduction.

- You may be entitled to an income tax deduction the year of the gift.

2006 Scholarship Banquet

Every CCCC scholarship recipient has a story, from the laid off factory worker, to the high school graduate with dreams of being the first in the family to go to college, to the single mother who wants to give her children a better life. In November 2006, nearly five hundred scholarship donors and recipients gathered to share a meal, a few inspiring stories, and the hopes and dreams that higher education can bring.

Seated together for this annual event, donors and the recipients of various CCCC Foundation scholarships have an opportunity to connect. Individuals, families, corporations, and a variety of local organizations provide scholarships through the CCCC Foundation, and the annual banquet gives them an opportunity to see first-hand the impact of their generosity. The banquet also provides the scholarship recipients a time to show their appreciation and share their excitement about the future with those who opened the doors to higher education.

You (or your family, your company, or your civic organization or club) can contribute to many of our already-established scholarship funds, or you can start a named endowment that will provide educational opportunities for years to come. Contact the CCCC Foundation office at (919)718-7231 for more information.

Five Star Child Care Center

The Central Carolina Community College Preschool at the Chatham County Campus retained its five-star rating after excelling in a detailed inspection and evaluation. Child care facilities throughout the state are rated on 43 standards in areas such as space/furnishings, activities, environment, interactions with parents, and education of teachers. Five stars is the highest rating a facility can attain.

Endowments

CCCC Foundation Endowments Investing in Education

You, your family, or your organization can establish a named endowment at Central Carolina Community College. Your endowment will not only help students today, but it will continue to support education for years to come. The initial funds, along with any additional gifts you make in the future, remain permanently in the endowment, and you designate how the earnings may be used. You may want to provide scholarships for a particular curriculum program or for students from a specific high school or county. Your endowment could support faculty education or provide funds for up-to-date technology. Regardless of how you decide to guide the use of your donation, a named endowment provides perpetual funds to help the College, the students, and the communities of Chatham, Harnett and Lee counties. Call the Foundation office today at (919)718-7231 to learn more.

Please note, each endowment requires significant administrative time and resources to manage and distribute the funds according to the donor's requirements, while adhering to the highest possible standards of good stewardship. Therefore, the CCCC Foundation asks that you make a minimum commitment of $10,000 to create a new named endowment. We are truly appreciative of every donation, regardless of amount. You can always combine your contributions with other funds (such as our general fund or a previously-established endowment) to maximize the efficiency of the Foundation and the impact of your generous contributions.

Continued Grant Success at CCCC

In addition to the four grants totaling over half a million dollars already secured for the Central Carolina Dental Center in 2005-2006, two more funding entities added their support to the innovative project in 2006-2007. Golden LEAF, Inc. awarded the College $223,006 and the NC Community College System awarded $270,595 through its Allied Health Enhancement Grant program funded by the NC General Assembly. These awards are in addition to the earlier grants from the Kate B. Reynolds Charitable Trust for $296,809, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina Foundation for $25,000, and the NC Dental Health Society for $2,800. The College's collaborative partner, Lee County Public Health, also accepted a grant from The Duke Endowment in the amount of $250,505 to help create the Central Carolina Dental Center.

Giving in Memory or in Honor

Any gift may be named in memory or in honor of someone. A donation “in honor of” is a unique way to celebrate an occasion such as a birthday, anniversary, or retirement.

A gift “in memory of” is a lasting tribute to your loved one’s life and interests. Upon your instructions, the Foundation will send a customized gift letter directly to the individual or family you are honoring. If you would like more information about memorials and honorariums, contact the Foundation office at (919)718-7231.

CCCC Ambassadors

Each year, CCCC selects a small group of students to serve as Ambassadors to represent the College at special events on campus and in the community. Student Ambassadors provide invaluable assistance to the College and to the CCCC Foundation. Wearing their distinctive uniforms, Ambassadors distribute programs and escort graduates and faculty members during graduation ceremonies, provide assistance at the annual CCCC Foundation Golf Tournament, and welcome guests at events such as groundbreakings and receptions. Faculty members nominate students for this honor, which includes a full scholarship, based on academic standing, leadership potential, and communication skills.

Foundation Giving Clubs

Highest GED score in the state

Chelsea Stith of Chatham County was honored at the College's Adult High School/GED graduation June 14 for having achieved the highest score in North Carolina in 2006 on her GED. She scored 3,920 out of a possible 4,000. Lou Ann Parker, coordinator of AHS and GED programs for the North Carolina Community College System, presented Stith with a plaque honoring her accomplishment. The high-achieving graduate also served as the mace-bearer for the ceremony and was one of three student speakers to address the many friends and family members gathered to honor the accomplishments of their graduates.

Cumulative Cornerstone Club ($20,000 + Cumulative)

Regional Robot Win

“Robox,” Central Carolina Community College’s battling robot, maneuvered and fought its way to victory against Guilford Technical Community College’s “Deadly Revolution” robot at the Carolina Combat Robots competition held in Greensboro May 5.

The two college robot battle was the special attraction at the event, which drew battle robot teams from as far away as Georgia and Mississippi. Most were enthusiastic robot hobbyists gathered to pit their robots against each other in a pushing and bashing “fight to the death” in their weight classes.

CCCC students Mike Blue of Cameron and Allen Howington of Lillington designed and built Robox as a project for their Mechatronics Technology program. Mechanical Engineering student Tristan Holt of Sanford guided Robox to victory against GTCC, sweeping all four events: obstacle course, sumo wrestling, tug-of-war, and an all-out battle.

Award Program

Phi Beta Lambda state competition

Having formed a CCCC chapter only four months before, Phi Beta Lambda members brought home five awards from the organization's 2007 State Leadership Conference. The national student organization promotes business leadership. Local members competed in various business-related categories against students from colleges and universities across North Carolina.

Colby Miller of Erwin placed second in Sales Presentations. Chris West, also of Erwin, placed fourth in International Business. The team of Medina Getter-Apkins of Lillington, Garrott Harris of Spring Lake, and Wesley Hearn of Buies Creek, won a fourth place in Management Concepts. Hearn also placed fourth in Telecommunications. Cherokee

*Colby Miller
Colby Miller, of Erwin, placed second in Sales Presentations at the PBL Regional Competition and went on to the National Competitions.*

Bailey of Fuquay-Varina, placed fifth in Public Speaking.

- NCAEOP Professional Standards Program

College Support

- "Good of the College" Activities

The CCCC Foundation helps to fund High Tech, High Touch workshops that involve middle school students in hands-on, fun learning about science.

Financial Information

Foundation Statement of Financials

The community continued to show their support for Central Carolina Community College by contributing over $412,000 in private gifts during the 2006-2007 fiscal year. These gifts included long term commitments made to the College by the establishment of 10 named endowments through the CCCC Foundation. In-kind gifts of equipment and supplies totaling $111,000 were also donated and transferred to the College's inventory.

During the 2006-2007 fiscal year, the CCCC Foundation provided over $190,000 in direct support to the College and its students. Over 175 students received financial assistance through the Foundation's scholarship and award programs totaling $100,000. Other awards were used to advance the academic mission of the College.
