

News from the Library

A Newsletter of the Central Carolina Community College Libraries Vol. 8, No. 3

Jump into New Beginnings

New Technology

New Online Tutorials are available for all students through Blackboard. They demonstrate how to use NC LIVE Academic Search Premier, Opposing Viewpoints Resource Center, and NC LIVE NetLibrary (which gives students access to 26,000+ full text eBooks). Go to College Resources 101 – in Blackboard. Open Support Services and choose Library Resources.

New copiers are in all the libraries. Printing and copying documents will now involve print cards that work like debit cards.

Instead of searching for change, students and other patrons will be able to purchase a value card for copying or printing in the library. The initial cost is $1.00 and they can add value in increments of $1, $5, $10 or $20. When copies are made or prints are made students swipe their cards and charges are deducted after verification of the cost and number of pages.

Faculty and staff members whose regular copier is not accessible can stop by the circulation desk at the library and ask for the faculty/staff print card to make copies or print. After swiping the card, they can type their copy code in the copier, which has been issued to them by Jan Rider. Adjunct faculty also should have received a copy code from their supervisor. The copiers work just like the other new copiers around campus.

New Staff

WELCOME to Jean Vollrath, the new Library Assistant at the Pittsboro Library Campus. Jean completed 21 hours in CCC's Library and Information Technology Program and has recently received her Masters in Library Science degree from East Carolina University.

New Accolade

NC LIVE won a national award for making PBS videos available online. This collection is continuously being expanded and is well used by NC libraries and by teachers for instruction.

New Location

Instruction Librarian, Mary Coleman is now at the Sanford campus but will continue to provide library instruction at all campuses. To arrange for a library class call, 718-7340. Evening classes at the Lee campus will continue to be offered by Ellen or Leonard Viggiano at 718-7244.
