In this FREE 75-minute program, published poet and experienced creative writing teacher Ty Stumpf will guide participants to find their poetic voice inspired by photographs. Participants should bring or have access to a favorite photograph—old or new, personal or famous.

Participants will explore ekphrastic poetry, the art of writing in response to visual images, using their own photos as creative inspiration. Through examples, guided prompts, discussion, and writing time, poets of all experience levels are welcome to transform memory, observation, and emotion into verse.

To reserve a space, contact Bianka Stumpf at bstumpf@cccc.edu or (919) 718-7470.

This project was supported by The Lee County Arts Council and the North Carolina Arts Council, a division of the Department of Natural & Cultural Resources.
