Policy 5.4.1 - Student Right to Know Act

Pursuant to the Student Right to Know and Campus Security Act (the “Act”), the College is required to publicly disclose relevant graduation and transfer rate information for its students. The Act is a consumer information report designed for public access to relevant graduation and transfer information to enable students to make informed decisions regarding their college choice. The College makes available to currently enrolled as well as prospective students the graduation and transfer rate for the most recent cohort of entering students based on a one-year reporting period.

The Act’s report is a cohort-based study. The cohort is made up of students who enrolled as first-time college students, who attended full-time (i.e., twelve (12) or more hours), and who had declared themselves as degree seeking. The graduation and transfer rate for the cohort is calculated one year after the cohort’s initial date of enrollment. These numbers can be misleading because many community college students attend part-time. Those students are not included in this report. Moreover, students with academic goals other than transfer or degree seeking students are not included in this report. Also not included with the report are those students who leave school to serve in the armed services, to serve in an official church mission, or with a recognized foreign aid service of the Federal government.

The report is updated annually and is available in the Office of Student Services.
