College History

Central Carolina Community College has thrived on an ongoing vision of leadership, service, and success. Over the years, that vision has been transformed into reality by planning, commitment, hard work, and community support.

From a single extension class offered in 1961 in Lee County, the school has grown to a fully accredited community college of high reputation serving the people, businesses, and industries of Chatham, Harnett, and Lee counties. Its distance education programs reach far beyond those physical boundaries to enrich students' lives around the world.

In 1958, the North Carolina State Board of Education chartered the institution as Lee County Industrial Education Center. The first classes were held in 1961. Two years later, it became a part of the North Carolina Department of Community Colleges.

In 1965, the Center became Central Carolina Technical Institute, with authority to award associate degrees. The name was changed to Central Carolina Technical College in 1979 and then to its current name, Central Carolina Community College, in 1988.

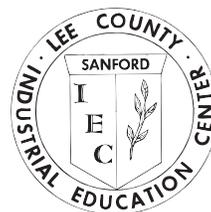

A spirit of leadership spans the college's history. Back in 1965, it was the first community college in the state to offer an Animal Hospital Technician curriculum, now Veterinary Medical Technology. In 2002, it became the first community college in the nation to offer an Associate in Applied Science in Sustainable Agriculture. Leadership is also shown in programs such as Laser and Photonics Technology, which is one of only about a dozen nationwide that trains on high-power lasers.

In 2010, the U.S. Department of Energy recognized Central Carolina Community College as "a strong force for educational opportunities, economic progress and cultural enrichment in the communities it serves." Also in 2010, CCCC was ranked among the top 50 community colleges in the nation by Washington Monthly magazine.

In 2017, CCCC was named among the nation's top Veterinary Technician and Dental Hygienist schools, according to The Best Colleges website.

The college has shown much academic growth since its founding. CCCC has more than 50 career and university transfer programs to explore at locations throughout its three-county service area – plus online courses to fit any schedule. The college offers associate degrees, college transfer credits, diplomas, and certificates.

CCCC also has experienced great physical growth since its beginning, with three main campuses and various satellite locations. Currently under construction in Lee County are the Oscar A. Keller Jr. and Elderlene R. Keller Health Sciences Center, a new Veterinary Medical Technology Building, a new Emergency Services Training Building, and an addition to the Dennis A. Wicker Civic Center. Also, a new Health Sciences Center is being planned for Chatham County.

CCCC Curriculum Enrollment

Unduplicated, FTE, and Fall Curriculum Enrollment

The college has continued to grow despite many other North Carolina community colleges experiencing a significant decline in enrollment and full-time equivalent (FTE) enrollment. Unduplicated enrollment, FTE, and fall enrollment have all shown stable or increasing numbers in recent years. Enrollment types are defined below.

Unduplicated Annual Enrollment – A headcount of students who were enrolled during the academic year. Each student is only counted one time for the year. FTE – Full-time equivalent enrollment based on NC Community College System contact hour model. Fall Enrollment – A headcount of students who were enrolled during the fall term. Each student is counted one time for the term.
